HURRICANE DONNA

Donna was a screaming vixen but she was prompt. This was the best forecast of a major storm within memory. Thanks to this very good warning almost all Mattapoissett boats rested in safety on the Center School grounds or on the high ground at the top of the wharf. Most of Sunday night boat owners and volunteer helpers moved there boats up the wharf ramp to high ground. No praise is too great for the work of Bill Suzan, harbor master. Bill puts at least ten times more into his job as it pays him. On August 19th responding to a similar warning he performed the same great service to Mattapoisett boat owners. The same efficient and orderly direction and skill payed off in this latest instance. At the height of the storm on Monday many people went out of their way to speak to us of Bill's work and of how they appreciated it.

Fortunately this storm was only building in force as the tide began to recede. Even though the force of the wind pushed the tide higher than normal, the deep flooding which caused such havoc in 1954 did not occur. Even such exposed buildings as Val's and Dick Cobb's survived in place on the wharf. The water did wash over the floor of Dick's place but both front and back were open to let the force of the water be broken. There was a crowd of people at the top of the wharf throughout the storm for,unwelcome as it is, a hurricane is the most awesome show on earth. When the wind reached full force it was possible to lay down on the wind and let it support the body. The great combers sweeping across the harbor were yellow with sand. The crash of the breaking water, the sting of the salt spray and the screaming pitch of the wires and trees is a sound and fury beyond belief. A handful of boats were left at moorings or tied to the wharf to take their chances. No mooring and no line is a match for waves of this kind. Inevitably moorings were dragged and lines were broken. A sailboat dragged into the slip between the east wharf and the long wharf and if her line had parted she would have been tossed to safety on the square dance area. The line held and the boat ground against the stone until it sank. The beautiful large sailing yacht moored well out west of the wharves rode beautifully but the sea was far stronger than her mooring. She dragged slowly and the strain finally snapped her bow line. She turned toward the wharf. Just the force of the wind on her mast and rigging was all the power she needed. She heeled over and sailed gracefully to shore. She beached near the rocks beside the Sands beach. The Sultana tied to the wharf was protected by it from the full force of the waves. When the water reached the top of the wharf she began to work. This dragged her stern line holding her off the wharf. Before long she was being lifted in the air to have her side battered on the wharf piling. She sank by the bow. For those who love boats it is a hard thing to watch good boats ruined.

The sparkling day that follows the storm usually reveals broken homes and ugly debris by the ton. It was a pleasure to visit Crescent, Pico, Harbor Beach and Holly Woods Beaches this morning and find very little major damage. Both Mattapoisett and Marion have suffered heavy damage to trees and power lines. Most boat owners brought their craft to safety so boat loss was very little. Marion Harbor is so sheltered that most boats were left in the water. This morning I saw only one small sailboat overturned. An elm in the yard of George Heath's house on North Street, Mattapoisett crashed through the dining room roof. Crews were working on trees throughout Mattapoisett and Marion.

We take no pleasure in pictures of ruin. These pictures show beach property still standing and we are very glad to find them that way. We have a picture of the boats at the Center School and to us that is far better than boats on Water Street smashed and battered. Gust of 125 M.P.H. were noted so this was no tame storm. Good warn-

ROCHESTER WOMAN'S CLUB HEARS SPEAKER

Mrs. Grace L. Jerauld, R.N., Director of Volunteer Service at Taunton State Hospital, was guest speaker at the first fall meeting of the Rochester Woman's Club. The title of her talk was "Volunteers Find Patients are People". Mrs. Jerauld gave the history of the growth of the hospital to its present enrollment of approximately 2000 patients and described the facilities and personnel. Volunteer Service dates back to 1945 and its purpose is to make life a little brighter for those inside. Sunshine is brought to the patients through work parties, personal visits, correspondence and church, and veterans' groups who take them off the grounds with special permission to recreational areas and ball games. In October a special orientation program for new volunteers will take place. A question and answer period followed.

Mrs. Frank T. Howland presided at the business meeting. It was announced that whist parties would be resumed this month. Mrs. Greenwood Hartley suggested that a new schedule be worked out to make arrangements for the parties.

Mrs. Kenneth Winslow announced that the afghan was almost completed but that a few more 6-inch squares would be appreciated if anyone has the time to do them. The afghan is a large one and will be donated to the Brockton Veterans' Hospital.

ing the last two years in Rochester. The scholarship fund was instituted in 1945 and eighteen Rochester students have benefited from it. A fine likeness of the young soldier, Raymond T. Hartley, who was killed in action and for whom the scholarship is named, will appear on the calendar.

It was announced that Boy Scouts will resume their meetings at the clubhouse on Friday nights starting September 9th. Mr. Calvin Daggett is scoutmaster and Mr. Everett L. Hardy is institutional representative for the club.

Reports were given on the summer financial events by Mrs. Marion Church acting as secretary pro tem in the absence of Mrs. Everett L. Hardy. A substantial profit was netted from the success of the bazaar and smorgasbord held in June. Chairmen in charge of this event were Mrs. Merton Hartley and Mrs. Henry B. Smith, bazaar, and Mrs. David M. Fearing and Mrs. Greenwood Hartley, smorgasbord. Unusually successful this year was the popular auction under the direction of Mrs. Everett L. Hardy and Mrs. George Church.

SIGHTED OVER SANDWICH

If this item had come to us in the mail, I know what my reaction would have been, so smile and raise your eyebrow as you read. This is something that you have to see for yourself.

On Wednesday, at noon, we were driving toward the lights at Sandwich, Mass. The weather and visibility were perfect. A flat oval object appeared in the sky flying parallel with the car traveling in the same direction. It had the appearance of a fat luminous cigar. We were looking away from the sun to the object. We saw no wings and no jet trail and even though the object was very low there was no sonic boom and we heard no noise of any kind. The speed of the object was such that it had disappeared by the time I had counted to 15. Without knowing the height of the object and the point we no longer could see it, of course it is not possible to even roughly estimate the speed. It appeared to be a fantastic rate of speed. It was very definitely a solid, silver luminous, object which stood out sharply against the blue sky. We've read about such sighting and we saw the television report on unidentified flying objects. There are many theories about mirages and freak weather phenomena which up to this time had satisfied me. However, you must believe your own eyes and those of two other witnesses, this was something tangible.
